

Community Wellness Directory 2017

Erie County, Pennsylvania

BACKGROUND

As reported in the 2015 Erie County Community Health Needs Assessment, obesity rates among adults in Erie County have steadily increased from 24% in 2001 to 32% in 2013. An estimated 68% of Erie County residents have body mass index (BMI) values that qualify as "overweight" or "obese", compared to 65% for Pennsylvanians. For children in grades K-12, the incidence of overweight and obese is 51%, compared to Pennsylvania's 39%. Overweight and obesity are often associated with coronary heart disease, high blood pressure, stroke, type 2 diabetes, cancer, and other conditions.

Physical activity and healthy eating help control weight and promote well-being. However, a resource guide for these programs was not available.

The information in this directory was collected as part of Erie County's Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP) whose goal is to improve the overall health of Erie County residents. It is meant to be a resource for the residents of Erie County.

ABOUT THIS DIRECTORY

In this directory, residents will find community-based interventions and programs that assist in weight management, chronic disease prevention, and total wellness. The goal of this directory is to provide an easy-to-use, comprehensive clearinghouse for programs that combat overweight and obesity, while diminishing the risk factors for the chronic diseases that stem from these conditions.

Programs are searchable by category or by title. Categories help in finding the program best suited to your needs. The alphabetical listing enables you to search for a specific program.

Most information was gathered from participating organizations by a web-based survey or by direct interview. Some information was found on organization websites.

A user friendly map can be found at Erie County, Pennsylvania to visually locate programs within Erie County.

This directory is current as of July 2017 and will be updated periodically. However, programs can change at any time and it is recommended that you check the website or contact an organization directly for the most current information.

The directory is maintained by the Erie County Department of Health. Contact them at (814) 451-6700 to include a program or edit an existing program.

ACTIVE FOR LIFE

American Cancer Society 2115 West 38th St Erie, PA 16508

Description: Active for Life Online is a 10-week program that uses individual and group strategies to help employees become more physically active. Research shows that people who increase their physical activity, improve their diet, and maintain a healthy weight reduce their risk of chronic diseases, including cancer, heart disease, and diabetes. The program encourages employees to take an honest look at their current activity level and set realistic goals for improvement. Physical activities can range from walking at lunchtime, taking the stairs rather than the elevator, or yard work to more strenuous exercise like running, swimming, or playing tennis.

Description: Individualized exercise program instructed by Selina Uglow, LPN, CPT within a group setting that allows the opportunity for anyone interested in becoming more active to do it while reducing risk and enjoying themselves. Classes are offered in two locations for convenience.

Without using a lot of additional equipment, the base building exercises can be incorporated into day to day living for maximum benefits. Individuals who have a history of injury or pain receive particular attention from a neuromuscular nurse including modifications to reduce the risk of re-injury or exacerbation. Results can be seen in as little as four classes.

WELLNESS COACHING SERVICE

The WAY to Healthy Living 11229 East Law Road North East, PA 16428

Description: Adopting a healthier lifestyle, weeding through all of the information that is available, figuring out how it fits into your lifestyle, and seeing it through is often extremely difficult for individuals to manage. Selina Uglow, LPN, CPT has come from 248 pounds to successfully maintaining a healthier lifestyle without drastic changes, sacrificing, and crazy exercises. Through her coaching services, she not only shows people how to do the same, she becomes their biggest cheerleader with daily support, weekly exercise, and sharing of various resources in nutrition, cooking, finance, attitude & positive perception, social services, etc so that individuals can succeed in moving towards optimal wellness.

Individuals who are seeking change don't often follow through because of the various factors that come into play including family, expectations, support, etc. Working with a wellness coach helps adjust attitudes, change commitments and keep people motivated to adopt healthier habits in their real life situation. Coaching Services are based upon the Bread N' Butter of Wellness; Balance, Rest, Exercise, Attitude & Diet.
